

Keen interest in philosophy? Looking to expand your extracurriculars during a time of remote study?

Ex Animo, the University of Oregon's Undergraduate Philosophy Journal, is Looking for Editorial Board Members

EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBER RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Review submissions to the journal, and advise fellow Editorial Board Members throughout the review and letter-writing processes.
- Come to decisions on which submissions to the journal should be accepted, revised, and rejected.
- Work with a team dedicated to publishing the brilliant ideas of fellow undergrads in a meaningful and lasting journal.

What we are looking for:

- Background in philosophy with philosophical interests and ideas.
- Editing experience.
- Well-rounded education and interests.
- Leadership skills.
- Attention to detail.
- Able to work well in a team oriented environment.

OUR GOALS HERE AT EX ANIMO:

In part, the goal of this journal is to challenge what it means to do philosophy, that is, to redefine philosophy and broaden its scope. Philosophy, we contend, is fundamental to understanding our history, and, most importantly, can challenge us to transform the present, and help us to reimagine the future. It fosters within us an ineffable sense of wonder and compels us to develop compassionate, thoughtful, critical, and curious dispositions that allow us to hold the world and ourselves accountable. We find that philosophy is not simply an academic discipline or intellectual practice — it is a way of living and being in the world, a way of navigating the variegated topography of existence with an open mind and an open heart.
